

Rental Solutions

Sector and M&A Report

Winter 2020

Considerable M&A activity in the Rental Industry

There has been considerable M&A activity in the Rental industry with multiples up to 10x EBITDA. The strongly growing market combined with the complexity, engineering and customisation of solutions are driving margins. These factors also drive valuation multiples, next to the recurring nature of the business.

Key observations from our research:

- The European Rental Association (ERA) valued the industry at € 25,7 bln in 2017, the global market being valued at $ 90 bln and expected to grow with 4-5% per year. The biggest market in Europe (although not the strongest grower) is the UK. France and Germany are the two other largest markets in Europe and also among the strongest growing ones. Besides, The Netherlands are among the fastest growing countries with a 4,4% growth rate.
- The use of rental solutions is still strongest in the (construction) equipment market. Although we do see rental solutions spreading over other markets as well, like office equipment, plus industrial and consumer markets.
- Key drivers of growth in the Rental industry are:
 - This market is growing ahead of the general economy;
 - Increased regulations around safety asking for the latest up to date solutions;
 - Increased penetration of rental instead of buying as a result of better use of capital and focus on Total Cost of Ownership decision making;
 - Increased recognition of the role of rental in ensuring sustainable solutions;
 - Long-term trend towards 'sharing economy'
- Valuations are typically around 7-8x EBITDA: Valuation multiples are typically 7-8x EBITDA range with players who are focused on more and/or relatively rare complex solutions receiving the highest multiples. In addition, the more recurring the business the higher the multiple. Listed companies being valued on an average of 10x EBITDA.
- Managing the quality of the (asset) rental fleet is key: maintenance, replacement capex and expansion capex.

"The Rental solutions sector is becoming more and more of interest to strategic buyers as well as Private Equity. This is mainly related to the continuously increased penetration of rental instead of buying, the increased possibilities on improving utilization rates and better use of capital, resulting in further improvement of margins. The higher the complexity of the solution provided and the more recurring the business, the higher the multiple"

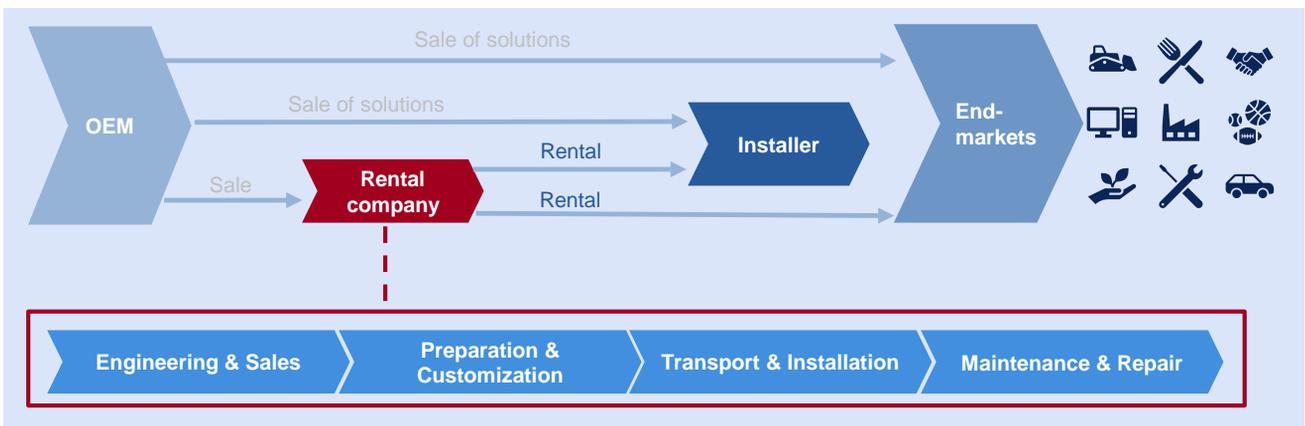

Growing penetration grade of rental over sale

The global Rental Equipment market is valued at approximately $90 bln and is expected to keep growing at a CAGR of 4-5%.

- A main driver for growth is the increased penetration of rental solutions instead of buying.
- The main reasons for end-markets to choose a rental solution are:
 - Focus on core business
 - Flexibility & direct availability of equipment
 - Temporary needs (seasonal, over-capacity, incidents etc)
 - Opex over Capex decision making
 - Access to high quality solutions, up to date with the newest technologies
 - Outsourced service & repair (unburdening of customer)
 - Ensuring compliance
- Another important trend in the market is the use of technology, like track & trace and remote monitoring, which increases efficiency and transparency and helps rental companies increase their utilisation rates and therefore margins.

High level of complexity drives margins and customer lock-in

The Rental company takes care of the full value chain steps, including engineering of the rental solution, preparation, transport and service. The higher the level of complexity, engineering and customisation, the higher the margins realised and also the higher the level of recurring business due to a natural customer lock-in

Consolidation in the market driven by the large generalists buying specialised niche businesses

Consolidation in the rental industry has been a key trend the past 15 years. US-based United Rentals for example, now being the largest rental business globally, has realised over 200 acquisitions. In Europe the French-based Loxam and Kiloutou, Dutch company Boels Rental and Nordic based Cramo and Ramirent are the main consolidators.

- Buyers are mainly focused on knowledgeable, specialised rental companies that have a high level of engineering and customisation and provide their services based on periodically recurring contracts, resulting in high margins and recurring revenues.
- A strong international scalable market position and strong growth potential are important criteria as well.
- Buyers are mainly targeting specialised rental companies focused on a niche segment. The market is still highly fragmented. In Europe the top 50 players represent 50% of the market, the top 10 close to 25%.

Rental transactions incl. EBITDA multiples

The average multiple of recent European/US transactions in the rental market is 7.0x. The transactions, as presented below, are all related to the rental industry environment and are transactions where the EV/EBITDA multiple is known.

Specific Rental Characteristics

Managing the quality of the rental fleet and therefore the potential of the rental solutions is obviously key in any rental company. Although rental companies are typically characterised by a relatively higher level of capex, it is important to have a detailed understanding of the split between (i) maintenance, (ii) replacement capex and (iii) expansion capex. Maintaining the fleet well on the one hand and making the right choices between for example a (thorough) overhaul of an asset instead of purchasing a new asset on the other hand, will optimize the rental fleet by making use of the hidden asset reserves. All this will not only improve the utilisation of the assets and ultimately the profitability (significantly), but also result in higher valuation multiples paid by buyers.
